

Coastal Farmhouse Mood Board

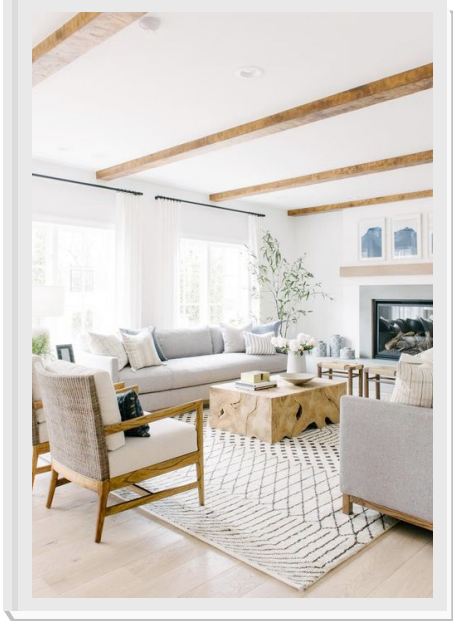

This young family needs a functional yet still casually elegant space. Finishes need to be durable enough for a young family yet sophisticated. We want the overall aesthetic to be tranquil and put together, a carefully curated space where everything has its place.

The mood board illustrated is for the general aesthetic and overall look and feel of the common areas of the Jones Family home. The home is new construction in the Amelia Walk Community of Fernandina Beach, Florida.

The Jones family moved from Italy into their new home in late, 2021. The family has three children (two boys and a girl). The children's rooms will have their own color schemes and feel but will generally still flow with the public areas of the home.
